PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Trouble solver by nature — that has always been my defining trait, long before it became my profession. Fullstack Developer with hands-on experience developing and supporting internal applications, database administration and enterprise systems support, working across Windows and Linux environments. Alongside this development background, I bring solid experience in platform management: Microsoft 365 solutions, dashboards and data analysis in Power BI, process automation with Copilot Studio and Power Automate, and work organization with Planner and Trello. The common thread is always the same — understanding the business problem and solving it with the most efficient technological solution, whether that means writing code, managing a database, or automating a workflow.
